CATTI tests will be held in June

Registration is now open at Macao Polytechnic University

The China Accreditation Test for Translators and Interpreters (CATTI) is a state-level translation professional qualification certification implemented in China for the general public. It sets out to evaluate the bilingual competence and proficiency of the candidates in interpretation or translation. It is the only language-related test included in China's national vocational qualification system. Its translation qualification certificate is jointly issued by the Ministry of Human Resources and Social Security of China and the China Foreign Languages Publishing Administration. It is widely recognized in the job market and has become the most popular certification among industry professionals and college students majoring in translation and interpreting studies.

On March 25, 2021, Macao Polytechnic University (MPU) signed a cooperation agreement with the CATTI Project Management Center of the China Foreign Languages Publishing Administration. Pursuant to this agreement, MPU officially established the CATTI test site, being the first institute to host the tests in Hong Kong and Macao. Tests were successfully held in June and November last year. It is believed that such an achievement will play a positive role in promoting the CATTI tests both in Hong Kong and Macao and will further enhance the development of the quality of translation professionals in Macao. Meanwhile, the test site will serve candidates across the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area.

According to the arrangements by CATTI Project Management Center, the MPU test site will offer the first round of English-Chinese and Portuguese-Chinese translation and interpreting tests to be held on June 18 and 19, 2022 simultaneously with the Mainland. Registration for the test is open from now until May 7, 2022. We look forward to your participation!

To provide more information about CATTI tests, the Faculty of Languages and Translation (FLT) of MPU will hold an online information session, in which students from the FLT who have obtained the CATTI certificates will share their test experience. Details of the session will be posted on the FLT website in due course.
